A Century of Modern Drawing
October 20 - December 5, 1982

Dürer to Cézanne: Northern European Drawings from the Ashmolean Museum
November 16, 1982 - January 2, 1983

The traveling schedules of two extraordinary exhibitions of drawings overlap at The Cleveland Museum of Art, the only museum to host both shows. Together the exhibitions span five centuries of master drawings, works of art prized as personal, direct expressions of the artist.

A Century of Modern Drawing comes from the distinguished collection of The Museum of Modern Art in New York and is one of the largest and most important drawing shows ever circulated by that museum. Contemporary drawings are of particular interest because they are frequently conceived as finished compositions rather than plans for works of art in other media, as in old master works.

Dürer to Cézanne: Northern European Drawings from the Ashmolean Museum features areas of the Ashmolean Museum's superb collection that are less well known than its drawings by Italian masters. The Ashmolean's collection of drawings by Northern European artists is equally strong and has grown considerably since it was last catalogued in 1938.

"Drawings: A Fortnight Plus" is a lecture series offered while both exhibitions are on view:

Title: A Century of Modern Drawing

Dates: October 20 - December 5, 1982

Content: Around 190 drawings by about eighty artists representing nearly every major artistic movement from the late nineteenth century through 1980: post-impressionism, fauvism, cubism, constructivism, vorticism, abstract expressionism, dadaism, surrealism, minimalism, and conceptualism. Among the artists included are:

Paul Cézanne (1839-1906)	Wassily Kandinsky (1866-1944)
Stuart Davis (1894-1964)	Paul Klee (1879-1940)
Jim Dine (b. 1935)	Fernand Léger (1881-1955)
Marcel Duchamp (1887-1968)	Henri Matisse (1869-1954)
Paul Gauguin (1848-1903)	Joan Miró (b. 1893)
Vincent van Gogh (1853-90)	Pablo Picasso (1881-1973)
Arshile Gorky (1904-48)	Robert Rauschenberg (b. 1925)
George Grosz (1893-1959)	Odilon Redon (1860-1916)
Jasper Johns (b. 1930)	Georges Seurat (1859-91)

Distinctly different styles and uses of line can be seen in drawings as diverse as Seurat's Lady with a Parasol (a study for Sunday on the Island of La Grande Jatte), Picasso's two studies for Les Femmes d'Alger, Matisse's Plumed Hat, and Stuart Davis's Composition No. 5.
